Rosanne,

Yes, a protection applicant living in the community with friends who was legally working and has lost that employment has eligibility to Covid payment. (This person does not have entitlement to DEA)

There are separate temporary arrangements for people in DP centres who want to stay with friends during the Covid crisis, and they continue to receive DEA and are not eligible for Covid Payment. These people remain listed as being within IPAS accommodation.

Regards
Mary

Folks,

Attached is a spreadsheet – showing Cork clients who are receipt in DEA and who have applied for COVID Pup also (to which they are not entitled)

John Harrington has successfully dealt with similar cases before and will deal with these before next payment run.

One case has gone to John Walsh and one was proper to Killarney who have been advised of same.

It may be that these clients have status and are entitled to PUP or not but a summary will issue when complete.
